

Manifest: Colonial Tendencies of the West Gallery of Contemporary Art at UCCS

September 14-November 17, 2007

It's finally time to get a glimpse of GCA Director Christopher Lynn's curatorial talents with "Manifest: Colonial Tendencies of the West." The show will feature approximately thirty works by artists from around the globe who take the benign and aggressive aspects of Western colonization and make manifest the resulting mixtures of culture, politics, and commerce.

The Battleship Potemkin: A Symphonic Cinema Spectacular Colorado Springs Philharmonic Orchestra September 15, 2007

If ever there were a symphonic event in the Pikes Peak Region not to be missed, this is it: The Colorado Springs Philharmonic Orchestra presents Sergei Eisenstein's great 1925 film masterpiece, fully remastered, and projected on a giant screen above the live orchestra. The orchestra performs Dmitri Shostakovich's powerful score under the baton of Music Director Lawrence Leighton Smith.

FLAUNT: Fashion Under the Bridge A Benefit for FutureSelf: Youth Discovering Success Through Art September 22, 2007

Last year's FLAUNT fundraiser under the Colorado Avenue Bridge, which rocked over 300 people with edgy fashion, art and entertainment, was named "Best New Event" by the Gazette and "Best Use of an Unconventional Space" by the Independent. This year, FLAUNT will again raise the bar for Springs events. This benefit raises funds for the dynamic organization FutureSelf: Youth Discovering Success Through Art. This year's event will combine music and dance performances in collaboration with Idoru's high energy, progressive fashion show—more like theatre, less like a boring fundraiser! There will be food, beer and wine, and a sculpture garden including art from the youth participating in FutureSelf.

WHAT'S ONLY
YOUR RADAR?

Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center

September 14-September 16, 2007

Consistently one of the most engaging film events of the year and shining example of the true cultural diversity of our region, the Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival was started eight years ago by a small group of dedicated individuals who had a dream of presenting a quality LGBT film Festival in Colorado Springs. The 8th Annual Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival will open on Friday evening, September 14th at the beautifully remodeled and expanded Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center.

Colorado Festival of World Theater Various Venues

September 21-30, 2007

Some of the world's best theater right here in our own back yard. This year's lineup of plays includes Truth in Translation, which explores issues of racism and forgiveness in South Africa as it follows a group of interpreters on the Truth and Reconciliation Commission after the end of apartheid. Beautiful Girls—A Tribute to Stephen Sondheim explores the journey of a woman's life through the songs of one of the greatest composers and lyricists in Broadway history. Learn more about these and many more events in the Festival of World Theater at PeakRadar.com.

The Melvins The Black Sheep

September 23, 2007

Old-school punk-metal defenders The Melvins will rock the Black Sheep as yet another unforeseen surprise in the excellent lineup of national acts that have been passing through COS. Don't miss this chance to see one of the bands born of the Nirvana years.

MORE INFORMATION, DAILY EVENT UPDATES AND MORE AT PEAKRADAR.COM

PPLFF Presents 2007 Film Festival

Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center
Box Office Number (719) 634-5583

Friday, September 14th Opening Night

6:00 pm Catered Reception

7:30 pm Welcome & Film Presentation: Out at the Wedding
with the director, Lee Friedlander

7:50 pm - Out at the Wedding directed by Lee Friedlander

Saturday, September 15th

11:00 am Special Luncheon with Lee Friedlander

12:30 pm - Itty Bitty Titty Committee directed by Jamie Babbit

3:00 pm - Stealth (Comme des voleurs) directed by Lionel Baier

6:00 pm - The Gymnast directed by Ned Farr

8:15 pm - Shelter directed by Jonah Markowitz

Sunday, September 16th

12:00 pm - Red Without Blue directed by Brooke Sebold

2:00 pm - Four Minutes (Vier Minuten) directed by Chris Kraus

4:45 pm - The Bubble directed by Eytan Fox

7:30 pm - Nina's Heavenly Delights directed by Pratibha Parmar

Fabulous Films and After Parties!

8th Annual September 14, 15 & 16 2007

Pikes Peak Lavender Film Festival
www.pplff.org 719-634-5583

Colorado Springs Fine Arts Center

Tickets always available at the door